

Job Opening: Archaeology of Ancient Israel and Early Judaism

The Department of Near Eastern Languages & Cultures at the University of California, Los Angeles announces a tenure-track position in the Archaeology of Ancient Israel and Early Judaism, to be filled effective July 1, 2005. The level of appointment is tenure-track at the assistant professor level. Candidates will be expected to teach a broad spectrum of undergraduate and graduate courses in the archaeology and cultures relating to ancient Israel and early Judaism. Research interests should include the relationship between material culture and texts. Candidates must display evidence or promise of a distinguished research and teaching record. Preference will be given to applicants who can participate in a variety of interdisciplinary programs coordinated by the Cotsen Institute of Archaeology and by the Center for Jewish Studies.

Applications containing a curriculum vitae, a list of publications, and letters from three referees should be directed to the Chair of the Archaeology Search Committee, Department of Near Eastern Languages and Cultures, Kinsey 376, UCLA, Los Angeles, CA 90095-1511. Deadline for applications is October 1, 2004. The University of California is an equal opportunity employer. Minorities and women are encouraged to apply. Pending budgetary approval.